KISM/2021/c.

Dear Sir/Madam,

RE: MANAGING HEALTH SUPPLY CHAINS WORKSHOP, 15TH-17TH DECEMBER 2021, AT LAKE NAIVASHA RESORT, NAIVASHA.

Logistics and innovation in health supply chains is a highly topical area in international research and practice. This is attributable to economic and political factors that turn attention to healthcare issues such as; the process of healthcare corporatization, the emergence of chronic, incurable and lifestyle diseases, the aging population, the increasing demand for healthcare services, rising costs of patient care, new technologies, frequent innovations, endemics and pandemics. To meet the healthcare needs at optimal costs, supply chain strategists should transform and scale-up global health supply chains by exploring supply markets that adapt to evolving client needs and enhance supply chain sustainability.

This workshop is designed to equip SCM professionals, in the healthcare sector, with skills for building healthcare procurement and supply chain systems that will ensure sound sourcing and distribution of healthcare supplies to meet the prevailing health needs in our society.

You are invited to attend and, or nominate staff to participate in this workshop. Book your space using the link below:
