INTRODUCTION

Project Management has emerged as a strategic means by which organizations achieve their objectives. It provides organizations with powerful tools that improve their ability to plan, implement and control its activities as well as the ways in which it utilizes its people and resources. Project management skills are needed not only in huge public projects but also in small and medium one-off business projects within organizations. The recent years have seen a rapid growth in the use of project Management skills in all areas of organizations coupled with PPPs.

Kenya Institute of Supplies Management has identified these rapidly growing areas as key to growth of both the public and private sectors and in view of this, the Institute is mounting this training.
